NATURAL BEAUTY RECLAIMED

STATE-OF-THE-ART STYLE MEETS RUSTIC CHARM

Situated in an idyllic Daylesford farmhouse, this stunning country kitchen harmonises rustic charm and contemporary luxury. The fusion of bespoke, hand-crafted features and modern styling create a warm and natural environment with an abundance of lavish amenities. Soaring vaulted ceilings create a spacious and airy feel, while large windows and skylights flood the space with natural light, emphasising the beauty of the abounding natural materials.

A generous step-in pantry and the ingenious movable island bench create the ultimate flexible space for cooking and entertaining. The custom-built base units are inventively framed with ultra-modern rugged concrete Caesarstone and crowned with a spectacular handmade double-bowl copper farmhouse style sink. Ashlar cladding feature walls create the perfect backdrops for a traditional range cooker and wood-burning stove, lending a homely feel to the stylish space. Sleek black tapware, hardware, lighting and appliances keep the overall effect contemporary and sophisticated.

Recycled Tasmanian oak flooring complements the bespoke cabinetry comprised of rescued blackwood from an expired local mill. Cypress hand-crafted sills and island benchtop continue this charismatic aesthetic, while whitewashed pine ceilings reflect the abundant light. To continue this trend, the bathroom effortlessly combines hand-crafted, reclaimed, and natural elements with lustrous contemporary finishes. Original stone walls were sandblasted, removing layers of dark paint to reveal their natural beauty.

The unique twin vanity, featuring a natural raw edge, was crafted from slabs of the same rescued blackwood as the kitchen, with a modern quartz vanity top and cement basins for stylish contrast. A large mirror reflects the greenery of the paddocks outside and maximises the impact of the natural stone feature wall. Large dark grey floor to ceiling tiles gracefully complement these natural finishes, adding an expansive feel, while the matte black tapware and hardware throughout completes the seamlessly eclectic picture.

The owner's original 1941 cast iron bath tub was fully restored, forming a stunning centrepiece that juxtaposes perfectly with the ultra-modern shower. A charming hand-made industrial pendant, created from old farm equipment parts, completes this countryside design. This unique feature, combined with multiple sources of concealed lighting, lends a sensuous quality to the serene atmosphere, emulating the tranquil feel of a luxury country spa.
